N.B.: Federal, Provincial, and Municipal agencies in Canada have their own requirements for law enforcement and regulatory enforcement personnel employment. Students wishing to pursue these careers should ensure that they are able to meet the educational, physical, and other entry requirements for their desired employment before enrolling in this program. Completion of this program does not guarantee entry into any law enforcement or regulatory enforcement profession. However, we believe that completion of this program will help you become a preferred candidate in the recruiting process.

Criminal Records Checks

Discovery Community College will submit each applicant's criminal record check (CRC) on-line to the Criminal Record Review Program (CRRP). The status of the CRC does not automatically prevent an applicant from attending this program. However, any CRC that reveals "relevant" offences may limit work experience options.

A satisfactory criminal record check is one that shows no convictions for any offences reviewed under the Criminal Records Review Act by the Ministry of Justice of British Columbia and no convictions for any offences reviewed under the Certified Criminal Record Check conducted by the RCMP, as well as no outstanding criminal charges. Note that these are two separate criminal records checks conducted separately and they review different offences. We strongly recommend that students get both criminal records checks completed.

Note that employers in policing, public safety, security, and related professions will normally require a clear criminal record prior to employment. We strongly recommend that students complete their CRC through both the CRRP and the RCMP.

For the CRC with the Ministry of Justice of British Columbia, DCC will submit an application on-line to the Criminal Record Review Program (CRRP). For the CRC with the RCMP, applicants must submit their own application to an RCMP detachment.

RESOURCES

The required textbooks and/or eBooks for this program will be distributed as needed during the courses. The instructor will supply other resources such as handouts and references to websites.
